

Nomination: #1

Reason for Nomination: I am nominating my home for the Pride Enhancement Program because it is an oasis in the middle of the desert. It is an oasis for insects, lizards, birds and on one occasion a toad. I call my style chaos gardening because I have no plan but to make my garden a haven for our family and the wildlife that thrives and depends on it.

BEFORE

AFTER

Nomination: #2

Reason for Nomination: An incredible transformation from outdated stucco and a dirt lot to beautiful drought resistant landscaping. My wife and I worked incredibly hard on this makeover, doing 90% of the work by hand. We hope you like it as much as we do!

BEFORE

AFTER

Nomination:	#3
Reason for Nomination:	Since moving in on May of 2021, my husband has made many improvements, Rock scaping, Driveway additions, & resurfacing. Manicured drought tolerant trees, & plants, lighting. Every weekend he maintains the property by sweeping, racking up leaves & trash blown in, Our house is a corner house, so we get lots of dirt & trash, blown in. He goes above and beyond cleaning up even our neighbors side. I am very proud that he never wavers, on maintaing a pristine appearance.

BEFORE

AFTER

Nomination:	#4
Reason for Nomination:	change from water heavy to drought tolerant

BEFORE

AFTER

Galaxy S24 Ultra

Nomination:

#5

Reason for Nomination:

Remodeled in 2025 the property exterior received a Complete overhaul. New cement steps and driveway in matching black color with a stamped pattern. The front yard is now divided in two by the cement steps and each partition has its own decorative theme. One is a palm tree surrounded by artificial turf and the other is a 2 colored rockscape feature with drought tolerant plants. The home is also painted in a blue gray color that sets it apart from the other homes on the street.

BEFORE

AFTER

Nomination: #6

Reason for Nomination:

[Name Redacted]'s Living Oasis In the quiet stretches of Hesperia, where the desert winds whispered through the yuccas and the sun laid heavy on the earth, [Name Redacted] had made a miracle bloom. Neighbors often slowed their cars as they passed his property, eyes wide at the sight of color and life where most gardens surrendered to the dust. [Name Redacted] had turned his piece of high desert land into a living canvas—one painted with drought-tolerant plants and balanced shapes of stone, flower, and leaf. His rock scapes wove like dry riverbeds between clusters of desert marigolds, soft sage, and crimson penstemon. Solar panels shimmered across the roof and pergolas, quietly fueling everything from the irrigation system to the small greenhouse that fringed his back garden. Inside, vegetables thrived all year—juicy tomatoes in winter and rows of basil, rosemary, and thyme perfuming the air. On the sloping hillside behind the house, terraced gardens climbed like green steps toward the sky. [Name Redacted] had built them with his own hands, planting fruit trees between trellises where climbing beans and flowering vines intertwined. Tiny irrigation lines ran beneath the soil, releasing water drop by drop—never wasted, always purposeful. Visitors could always find him outdoors, straw hat tipped low, pruning shears clipped to his belt. Hummingbirds darted to the feeders by his patio, their wings a blur among blooming yucca stalks. He'd smile when they came, then sprinkle seed into the feeder for the finches and sparrows that waited patiently nearby. As the sun dipped behind the desert hills, his garden glowed golden—each rock reflecting light, each leaf casting long, graceful shadows. In that serene moment, [Name Redacted] would often stand still, proud and peaceful. His garden was more than a hobby; it was a harmony between man, sun, and soil—a quiet promise that even in the driest places, life could flourish when tended with care.

BEFORE

AFTER

Nomination:

#7

Reason for Nomination:

I take personal pride in keeping the exterior and interior of my home in a presentable and honorable manner. When I drive home each day, I want to be greeted by beauty and cleanliness. I want the same for each person who passes by, whether by car on or on foot. The outside of my home is repainted every 3 years and the landscaping is consistently kept clean and beautified.

BEFORE

AFTER

